We take the stress out of your day, that's a win / win situation.

We're here for those who have a vision for their brand and feel ready to collaborate with and invest in a designer. Your new visual identity will be custom to your business and include the essentials to help you develop a cohesive, authentic and beautiful brand.

faq

Why does branding design cost so much?

For starters, branding is much more than a splash of colour. It includes everything you do, or claim to do as a business. Without a well thought out, intentional and aligned brand you will never connect with your 'people'. Plus we think we're pretty great at this, and you will too.

What I am after is not on your price list?

No worries, we design everything & anything. If you need a custom quote for a unique project, email us here for a quote: hello@carpandco.com.au

What sort of payments do you offer?

A deposit of 50% is required prior to starting your project. The remaining balance will be made over two payments via bank deposit. Final files will be handed over after the final instalment has been received.

What is the design process?

Once we have talked dollars and cents and you are happy with your quote we will send over a design proposal that includes a deposit invoice and proposed project timeline. Once you have paid your deposit we will spend some time getting to know you and your business better - via a phone call and questionnaire (depending on your package). We will move onto designing some concepts for you. You will then have the opportunity to give us your feedback (this is usually via email). We will then continue to tweak and refine your design until it is approved. Once everything is approved, finalised and paid for we will send over your final files in various formats for web and print.

How long will the design proces take?

Each job is different. If you have a deadline in mind please let us know at the beginning of the process and we will let you know if it is achievable. When we start working together we will send you a design proposal that outlines your project timeline so you know when you can expect to hear from us and when we expect to hear from you.

OK, I am ready! What next?

Take a big breath! We're going to have some fun, send us an email & we can lock in your branding session and get the ball rolling: hello@carpandco.com.au you'll also get a brief run down on how everything will work so you feel prepared and ready to go

If you are ready to get to work send us an email & lets get the ball rolling: hello@carpandco.com.au

We had our logo designed by Carp and Co. It's so lovely that a few people have suggested we sell our uniforms as merchandise!

So thrilled with it, will definitely recommend to everyone!

Carp and Co. were responsible for creating and developing a brand for my pilates business and I can't recommend them enough. An absolute dream to deal with... they understood my brief and turned it into a beautiful, meaningful piece of communication that connects with your customers is so impressive and hard to come by! I could not have asked for more nor engaged a better design agency.
